Acme Corporation Failed to Deliver in Havana, State Department Is Told.

Additional testimony of slipshed work by the United States Shipping Board may result from a protest sent yesterday to the State Department by a numof New York exporters, among whom are Joshua L. Bally & Co., cotton goods merchants, Thomas and Church streets, and Smith, Worthington Company, saddlers, 40 Warren street. If the protest bears no fruit, legal suits will follow and the Shipping Board will suffer even

According to the letter of protest, made public yesterday by T. Mino Curry, president of Smith, Worthington Company, the 10,000 ton steamship Por-nan, purchased by the Polish-American line from the United States Shipping line from the United States Shipping Board and leased to the Acme Operating Corporation, carried about $5,000,000 worth of goods from New York to Havana last October. The aggregate freight charge was about $225,000—hugely in excess of regular rates, Mr. Curry szys, because the Acme people said it meant sure delivery despite the congested condition of Havana harbor. The Poznan reached Havana, falled to get dockage, found it impossible to unload and returned with her full cargo to New York.

Letter Is Quoted. At Havana, according to the letter to the State Department, the American Minister there disposed of the case of the Idle Poznan by issuing a circular

"Habana, Cuba, Dec. 3, 1930. "Habana, Cuba, Dec. 3, 1920.
"Disposition of freight on the Poznan, "Merchants in Cuba having freight on the Poznan can arrange for its early return to the port of Habana on a smaller vessel without additional expense by reruesting the American firm from, or through, whom their purchases were made, to arrange that this be done.
"It is understood that the Acme Oper-made, to arreinge that this be done.

"It is understood that the Aeme Operating Corporation and the Polish-American Navigation Company, lessee and lessor, respectively, of the Poznan, have informed the Department of State that the merchandiss which was on the Poz-nan would be returned to Habana on a smaller vessel without additional ex-pense in case the shippers so desire. The shipper should be so advised by the merhant in Cuba so that he may take necessary steps in order to expedite the Manual."

Meanwhile the slump had hit the market. The final sentence of the circular, Mr. Curry says, gave the consignees the cue to cancel their orders. At any rate, they refused to pay freight back to New York and again to Cuba. Therefore the cargo, now lying at a Brooklyn dock, represents a loss to the shippers of nearly $2,000,000, considering depreciation, interest, freight and so on.

Three Demands Made.

Therefore the shippers make the fol-wing demands on the State Depart-tion referred to in the circular of the American Legation be corrected by the Legation itself in Havana to the same parties who received the original notices.

"Third—That you confer with the Department of Justice with the view of securing some legal remedy compelling the Acme Operating Corporation to fulfill their promises.

"Fourth—That you confer with the view of bringing pressure to bear compelling that Acme Operating Corporation to keep their promises to you. We understand that only a small deposit has been paid on the purchase of the Ponnan from the Shipping Board."

as Magistrate Mortimer Brown, sitting in the New Jersey Avenue Court, Brooklyn, decided yesterday, no one with common or any other kind of sense would regard them as a food product. His decision was made for the special benefit of Esther Rappaport and Rudolph Kaufman, who were arraigned before him charged with offering for sale from a push cart at Wyona street and Atlantic avenue openwork, lace and other winter varieties of hose.

For the violation of the foodstuffs ordinance they paid fines of $\mathbb{S}$ cach and heard Magistrate Brown recite an opinion, which went as follows:

"While it is true that offtlimes a stocking ing displays radiant and varigated colors and wonderfully artistic designs, including those of flowers unknown to seven Nature herself; and while, beyond doubt, stockings are frequently purely ornamental, nevertheless a stocking by process of change or evolution can never encroach upon the field of the natural and the real by developing into either a flower or a plant, although it is conceivable that under some circumstances a a stocking might materially aid the growth of both flowers and plants."

As Kaufman was leaving court he turned to his woman business partner. "He gives the truth," he remarked.

in Paris with a complete report on the islanders right of self determination. "Everywhere I found the keenest interest in America." Judge Elkus said. "especially among the most prominent business men, who realize they cannot expect much from Germany in the next few years and hope to get their necessary credits from America."

Judge and Mrs. Elkus were caught in Berlin during the hotel strike and admit they were only saved from starvation through the kindness of the American Commissioner. Judge Elkus expects a decision regarding the Aaland Island dispute will be reached next week, after he has had conversations with Hjalmar Branting and other Swedish experts who are now in Parls.
